RELEVANT PROJECTS

Pinball Project

2024 - 2025

- Engineered a functional pinball machine from the ground up, integrating mechanical, electrical, and software subsystems
- Designed and fabricated a scoreboard mount using Onshape CAD software and manufactured base components via CNC machining
- Programmed an Arduino Pico with CircuitPython to interface an LCD display with a button-triggered scoring system
- Wired and integrated a solenoid-driven flipper mechanism, including custom target and playing field components
- Defined and met engineering constraints for flipper performance through iterative prototyping and testing

Machine Learning

- Studied machine learning fundamentals under a Georgia Tech professor, covering model architectures and data-driven decision-making
- Developed a facial recognition model using machine learning techniques
- Toured Georgia Tech's engineering department to gain firsthand exposure to academic research environments and practices
